EXPERIENCE

Jeff has focused his career on providing accounting, audit and consulting services to privately held companies and not-for-profit organizations. His experience includes furnishing compliance services such as audits and reviews; due diligence and investigation services related to business mergers and acquisitions; fraud investigations; developing and compiling projected and forecasted financial statements; and evaluating, selecting and implementing technology systems for companies in the service, wholesale, distribution, manufacturing, construction and not-for-profit industries.

Through the over-40-year span of his career, Jeff's experience includes significant advisory and accounting services related to business acquisitions and sales. In this arena, he has assisted numerous companies with due diligence, structuring transactions, transition consulting and dispute resolution. Jeff has served a variety of ownership groups including public and private companies, private equity groups and foreign investors. He has also provided expert testimony and services related to litigation support, arbitration and mediation in connection with business acquisitions, contract disputes and certain bankruptcy matters.
